

AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please amend the specification as shown below.

On Page 1, the last paragraph should be amended as follows:

Therefore, it has been attempted to manufacture more flexible and simple handsfree kits, but with the same comfort as the complicated kits. An example of such a less complicated and flexible handsfree kit is known e.g. from the description of the published EP Patent Application No. 920 170 A2, where a mobile telephone uses RDS signals to pass a call to the mobile telephone further on to the ~~mobile~~ car radio.

On Page 3 the first paragraph should be amended as follows:

In other words, conflicts between the types of signals transferred to the ~~mobile telephone~~ car radio are avoided, which ensures that a user does not try to answer a call by removing his mobile telephone from its telephone holder.
